

JULIA: what's the worst thing you've ever done?

JORDAN: not answering that

JULIA: come on

JORDAN: you would never ask me this in real life

JULIA: this is real life
maybe if I was drunk.

JORDAN: are you drunk?

JULIA: nah

JORDAN: so why?

JULIA: 'cause if it's that bad I can unfriend you and its like none of this ever happened

JORDAN: oh

JULIA: my guess is it wont be that bad

JORDAN: ,
okay then

JULIA: , so?

JORDAN: ,
so?

JULIA: the worst thing you've done

JORDAN: ,
-
...
fine.
...
Intermediate school

JULIA: excited already

JORDAN: I was deputy head librarian
Which meant we could sign out heaps of books under our own names, and in theory, other people's names.

the max was about three, but librarians could override it.
people tended to trust librarians because why would the nerdy kids who just want to stay inside at lunch do bad things?

JULIA: so you did a bad thing

JORDAN; There was this one girl, Erin. She said the reason I hadn't kissed a girl was because I had a crush on Mrs. Simpson.

JULIA: Who was Mrs. Simpson?

JORDAN: mrs. Simpson ran the library. She was cool, but she was like, old enough to be my grandmother.
She used to tell us what happened on NCIS last night in excruciating detail.
She hated Abby.

JULIA: Who?

JORDAN; A character on NCIS, I think.

...

She was hard to understand because some of her teeth were fake and some weren't.

JULIA: so no crush

JORDAN: so no crush
And everybody laughed at me about it but it was Erin just being mean
So I did what any horrible librarian would do. I got as many books as I could carry (and I was smart because I got books that she would've gotten out, like Chinese Cinderella and Saddle Club) and issued twenty out to her then just took them home
She would've had all these fines.
This was on like the last week of school so I don't know what happened.
I hope she never got to graduate and now she's seventeen and still in year eight.

JULIA: ,
you know her parents would've probably just paid the fine.
Or complained about it until the school apologized.

JORDAN: hey, I was twelve.

JULIA: and that's the worst thing you've ever done?

JORDAN: easily.

JULIA: ,
you're adorable.

JORDAN: ,
...
(not sure how to react) i try
So what about you?

JULIA:
,
what about me?

JORDAN: what's the worst thing you've ever done?

JULIA: ,
,
,
To somebody else or myself?